

Boldy the bear isn't welcome in the woods.
Only when he sleeps, up there among the rocks,
do the other animals breathe a sigh of relief.
And while they hear him snore, they quickly stock up on food and rebuild their dens.
Because the minute Boldy wakes up, all hell breaks loose...

«When Boldy passes by, our dens and burrows quake from top to bottom» Leo the little mouse grumbles one day while he is picking strawberries with the hedgehog.
«I can't stand it anymore!».
«Neither can I!» exclaims the hedgehog. «We should ask him to be a bit more careful. But who would dare go to him?».
«I'd go» Leo says, «but I'm too small. Why don't you go? If he starts growling, you at least can make a show of your bristles. And if you bring some strawberries for his breakfast, I'm sure you'll befriend him».
«Do you think so?».
«Of course!».

The hedgehog isn't sure, but for peaceful living he decides to go up to the bear's den.

